This organ was sold and dismantled by the Organ Clearing House in 2011, but was never renovated or installed and has remained in storage in its original crates. It was subsequently sold to another church, but never moved from storage.

Before it was dismantled, the organ was in original and excellent playing condition.

The original console has been refinished and rebuilt with Harris Drawknob Motors and "one end" of a Syndyne 8400 System including preparations for some additions.
